

Pictures of Success in Shot Making

Probably the most powerful thing in the game of Pool is the pictures of success that you remember. So how does this happen? When you have the shots divided up into recognizable divisions that matter, and you make a shot a certain way it can happen instantly right then and there.

If you practice without thinking about the different distances and strokes and with side spin then it may never happen because you aren't giving yourself anything to reference the shot by. I give you references to remember.

The main problem is Distance and the other Parallax. Each shot is individually different by angle but Distance becomes just as important because of the Parallax. Simply put the farther the Object Ball is from you the harder it is to line up the delivery of the Cue Ball correctly because the Cue Ball (closer to you) appears much bigger than the Object Ball (farther away). My technique is the first to address how to cope with this part of the game by organizing your practice so that your mind will recognize the picture of success you've previously seen into 4 easy to cope with divisions.

My technique is quick and accurate. After a short time the skill becomes automatic, natural and you won't have to worry with it. If there's a real important shot you may stop to consider it, but the "real stuff" will occur when you get down to shoot. You'll have learned that distance by your capabilities with your eyes and your stroke and there isn't any greater knowing that exists.

No one else offers all of this in their aiming technique yet we've been playing pool a very long time. Common sense will tell you that distance is important. If you learn the shot there will be less hitting and hoping.

Using my techniques will teach you how to overcome your problems.

Distance, Parallax, New Perceptions that work for Center Ball and Side Spin and 4 main categories of Distance Divisions. Important keys to Shot Making.
